Antalya – Europe's best airport armed with iOmniscient security system

Published on 17 Nov 2011

iOmniscient is the only video analytics supplier which can operate in complex airport environment

The Airports Council International (ACI) Europe has named Antalya Airport, in the south of Turkey, as the best airport in Europe in the "10-25 million passenger" category. ICF Airports Antalya Airport Director General Alexander Laukenmann said during an award ceremony that Antalya Airport had won this in part because it had the best security. iOmniscient would like to congratulate its partner, Smart of Turkey who implemented the security system for Antalya using the full iQ-Infinity suite across the airport.

iQ-Infinity is a comprehensive system that operates more than twenty applications simultaneously on the same camera. These applications include a vast array of iOmniscient's most intelligent products, including the patented ability to detect abandoned objects in crowded and complex areas to detect potential bomb threats or other terrorist activities, very accurate intruder detection to prevent unauthorised personnel from entering restricted premises, and sophisticated behaviour analysis. iQ-Infinity provides more than the traditional security applications with crowd management for better customer service, slip and fall detection to reduce public liability, illegal parking detection for efficient operations in the drop off zones. These applications, and many more, can fulfill the needs of multiple departments including safety, operations and marketing.

iOmniscient is the only video analytics supplier which can operate in the crowded and complex scenes of the airport environment. iOmniscient has many satisfied customers in the airport industry and consistently provides superior video analytics systems with 24x7 world wide support to ensure successfully implemented systems.
